Sons Of Confederate Veterans To Stage Membership Drive

The John C. Calhoun chapter of the Sons of the Confederate Veterans announced today that membership will now be open to all eligible Clemson students. To be eligible for membership, the student must furnish or have at hand satisfactory proof that he is a male descendant of one or more who served in the Confederate Army or Navy to the end of the war, or who died in prison while in the actual service, or who were killed in battle, or who were honorably retired or discharged.

Students interested in joining the organization may get more detailed information at the room of John Jeffries (C-403). Meeting of the SCV are held on the fourth Monday evening of each month.

The Sons of the Confederate Veterans is a voluntary association of male descendants of Confederate Veterans, affiliated in a national organization because they are proud of their Confederate background, and are determined to continue the rebuilding of the South, remembering with affection the men who offered their lives in their defense.

In addition for caring for the aged Veterans of the Confederate Army and Navy, and their dependents, the Sons of the Confederate Veterans have undertaken a variety of projects designed to improve the educational and vocational opportunities open to the people of the South. They aim to give the world a true understanding of the Southern people and their brave history, to teach the youth of the South to take due pride and hope in their native Southland and to counteract the civil influence of misinformation.

Clemson Host To Spring Convention

Clemson College will be host to the annual Spring Convention of the South Carolina Student Government Association March 23 and 24. Approximately seventy delegates from thirteen colleges will be present.

The headquarters for the convention will be the Clemson House. The program will center around discussions of problems confronting student governments.

Don Clark, a student at the University of South Carolina, and president of SCSCGA, will preside at the meeting. During the business meetings, the election of officers for the coming year will be held.

NOTICE!

The veterans club will hold its next meeting Tuesday night, March 6. Reports on the success of the dance held last Saturday night will be given. All veterans are urged to attend.

Clemson Glee Club Gets Invitations For Month Of March

The Clemson College Glee Club accepted three invitations last week for appearances during the month of March.

The first invitation was to sing at the Daughters of American Revolution Convention to be held at the Clemson House March 5.

On March 15, a short program will be presented at the noon luncheon of the Greenville Lions Club and on that same day the Glee Club will give a pop concert after supper at Women's College of Furman University.

The Glee Club has been working on several new numbers for these performances and also in anticipation of a statewide tour in the early spring.

Anyone with previous choral training is invited to join the Glee Club and may do so by attending rehearsal next Thursday night at 6:15 p. m. in Clubroom at the YMCA.

Vice-President Of NSA Visits Campus

Jim Turner, vice-president of the National Student Assembly, arrived at Clemson yesterday to talk with the Dean of Students and other college officials.

Jim met with the executive council of the Student Assembly and discussed problems and projects of student government. He also spoke at a meeting of the Student Assembly, that was called especially to hear him, concerning the advantages of belonging to the National Student Association.

The Executive Committee of the Student Assembly has voted to join the National Student Association; they are waiting for financial assistance from the College.

Phi Eta Sigma Elects Officers

At a recent meeting of Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor fraternity, the new officers were elected for the coming year. The group also discussed plans for the initiation of new members and for the annual banquet.

The new officers for Phi Eta Sigma are Nicholas K. Hara, chemistry sophomore from Greenville, president; Joel W. Allgood, pre-med major from Liberty, vice-president; Wesley L. Betsill, Jr., pre-med sophomore from Arlington, Virginia, secretary; William E. Dukes, pre-med major from Honea Path, treasurer; and Leonard H. Adams, electrical engineering major from Honea Path, historian.

The date decided upon for the Phi Eta Sigma Banquet was March 29. No date was announced for the initiation.

Clark And Weeks Win Smith-Douglas An Scholarships

Donald Burns, Clark of Hartsville and William Jacob Weeks, Jr. of Florence, first recipients of the Smith-Douglas agricultural scholarships, maintained a better than "B" average in their work for the first semester of the 1955-56 school year at Clemson College.

These scholarships are offered by the Smith-Douglas Company of Wilmington, N. C., and are awarded on the basis of financial need, grades in high school and evidence of leadership.

Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Clark of Hartsville, is a freshman majoring in agricultural engineering. Weeks, also a freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Weeks of Florence. He was the top man in his graduating class of 200 at McClenaghan High School in Florence and is studying a straight agricultural course.

Honorary Cadet Colonel Will Not Be Chosen

Name Of Next Dance Changed To Spring Hop

The Clemson College Educational Council reached its final decision Tuesday concerning the Mother's Day Parade scheduled for May 12. It was decided by the council to discontinue the parade part of the festivities, which have long been a springtime trademark of the college.

Colonel G. A. Douglas, Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Clemson in discussing the discontinuance of the parade said, "I regret very much to see the traditional home-made mothers of Clemson Cadets discontinued, but the fact that this annual parade was discontinued at the same time as the Corps of Cadets is a tribute to those men who participated in this ceremony during the past years."

In connection with this decision by the Educational Council, there will be no Honorary Cadet Colonel and Staff chosen to preside over the parade. The selection of the beauties in the past was held during the Friday night dance of the annual Military Ball.

This fact brought on another decision by the Central Dance Association. Ginger Cureton, president of the CDA, announced Tuesday night that because of the changes made the name of the annual spring dance would be changed from Military Ball to the Spring Hop.

A decision concerning the disposal of the Scabbard and Blade Banquet usually held during the Military Ball week-end, is yet to be announced.

Waite Speaks To Y Council

The Sophomore "Y" Council held its regular meeting on Monday night. The guest speaker was Professor E. E. White, who talked and led a discussion on "The Psychology of Religion."

In the business meeting, Bill Allgood presented several recommended amendments to the constitution. These will be voted on after the usual two weeks waiting period.

Also, the project committee proposed that the Council sponsor the construction and erection of an Event Board to be placed in the Loggia. This project was discussed, and left as tentative.

Coker Glee Club Ends Season Here

A March 8 concert at Clemson College will wind up the annual Carolina spring tour of the Coker College Glee Club for this season. The girls' chorus of some 35 voices is to appear here at 8 p. m. in the Clemson College chapel.

This season's five-day series of concert engagements marks the Coker choristers' initial tour under the direction of Richard K. Schall. The new conductor is also a newcomer this year at the Hartsville College, where he has charge of vocal instruction. A native of Hoosier, he holds bachelors and masters degrees from the Indiana University School of Music. He has had experience as both vocal director and performer.

Two of the touring glee clubbers will be featured soloists: Junior Marian Duke of Lake City, mezzo-soprano, is to appear as vocal soloist and senior Mary Douglass of Kingstree as piano soloist.

The club is headed by two seniors. Jane Ingram of Hartsville is president and Maxine McLamb of Bishopville secretary-treasurer. Mary Douglass and her senior classmate Idalya Stoll, also of Kingstree, are piano accompanists.

Block And Bridle To Give Barbeque Saturday, March 10

The Block and Bridle Club, formerly famous on the campus for their barbeques, but whose efforts toward that end have been paralyzed by circumstance so far this year, sprang into action at the first meeting of the second semester as it planned a big barbeque for the Block C Intramural game on the 10th of March. Committees have been appointed and from the looks of things this should be one of the biggest barbeques the club has ever given. The barbeque will be given just before the game.

A contest has also been initiated between club members to see who can bring in the largest number of new members this semester. New members will be initiated formally at the "Y" cabin in the near future. Any agriculture major who is interested in animal industry is eligible for membership in the club which is the national professional club of the animal husbandry field.

NOTICE!

There will be a meeting of the Council of Club Presidents on Wednesday, March 7th, at 8:30 p. m., in room 118 of the Chemistry Building. All club presidents and faculty advisors are urged to be present.

Council Makes Wise Decision

A WISE decision was reached by the Educational Council Tuesday to the effect that there will be no military activities held on the campus on Mother's Day, May 13.

The words of Colonel G. A. Douglass, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, is the proper translation of the decision. The head of the Army ROTC program at Clemson said Wednesday morning, "This decision should be considered as a left-handed compliment to the former Clemson Corps of Cadets."

Why should the Clemson ROTC unit attempt something when it can not do it justice? The perfection of the Mother's Day parade, achieved by the Clemson Cadet Corps in previous years, came about through hard work and the everyday routine of military life. With drills scheduled for the ROTC units only one hour per week this year, it is impossible to reach a point of perfection that would do justice to the spectators or the college.

Should Mother's Day activities be called off completely? We do not think so. We still have the Jr.-Sr. dances scheduled for this week-end and there is a possibility of other activities being scheduled for Sunday afternoon at the time when the parade would normally be held. With the proper planning, Mother's Day at Clemson can still be made memorable.

DON'T GET ME WRONG, BUT . . .

Playmate Is Luscious; Now If You Really want To See A Parade . . .

By Roger Yike

The spasmodic jerking of uncontrollable limbs increased in tempo as the boy turned dejectedly away from the counter. Flecks of foam spattered from the corners of his mouth as his eyeballs silently and smoothly rolled into the back of his head. Each stair was an extreme effort and his kneecaps banged pathetically on the concrete. He finally reached his room and threw open the door. Collapsing on the floor, he managed to twist his twitching body over so that he could gaze at the wall. The wretched creature uttered low moans of agony as his eyes feasted. It was old, but it helped. But new blood was needed. That new sight which would restore strength and vitality to a broken wretch. Who could live on in this cold, cruel world unless the new issue of Playboy arrived soon? (Any resemblance between this description and characters seen on a Saturday night is purely coincidental.) (It was a good movie though and these words do fill up space. The deadline is creeping nearer.)

SOMETHING FOR THE KIDDIES . . .

The music creates a carnival air as the show begins. Spectators flock to the area to view the spectacle. Panorama, Cinema-Scope, Vista-Vision? Wrong again. Visualize the systematic spacing of hundreds of crack troops. Their faces are tense as the big moment approaches. Nothing can dim the enthusiasm of youth on parade. It will sweep all before it in a glorious burst of splendor. It must. Nobody wants to be deprived of the privilege of participating. The music swells to a thundering crescendo. Eyes are filled to the brim with the tears of joy and happiness. Soon the order will come. And then glory and honors will be heaped upon these gullible youth. They're off and running. Banana peel is slipping up on the rail. Girdle has become involved in a two-way stretch.

Cabbage is in the lead by a head. Stockings is beginning to run. And Beedle-bomb. But what is this? Another thundering herd hoves into view directly in front of this onrushing mass. Its a game of chicken. No, they elude each other by the skillful manipulation of forces. Everybody takes one giant step, a banana step and a butterfly whirl to the right. The day is saved. Heads up, shoulders back, chests out. The reviewing stand is near. Alternate men take a step forward to insure crookedness in the ranks. Then all twist their necks to the right, left and skyward to add to the confusion. But soon all is over. All victims of epileptic fits have been rushed to the hospital and calm reigns supreme over the field of battle. Another drill is ended. (And the deadline gets nearer and nearer. Type, man, type). ADD TO CONTINUE . . .

The date has been set for the Junior Class Follies this year and it should be as good if not better than ever. Upperclassmen will remember the classic statement made at last year's Follies of "I ain't been getting any . . . recreation lately." This cry, expressing the silent thoughts of the student body, climaxed a highly successful show. Visiting acts have been signed for this year's show and it promises to top last year's production. Everybody keep the date in mind. April 12.

WITH A FINAL NOTE

The agriculture world has been turned upside down by the latest discovery made by the office of Dig More Holes Daily. Nothing quite as astounding as this has been tried before. It should revolutionize the building trade, the landscaping trade, and the psychiatry trade. Never before has grass been brown on concrete. But our boys are trying it. Good luck, fellows!

A Word To The Wise

By DICK ELLIOTT,
Assistant Student Chaplain

A few months ago I heard a boy ask a question that I have often wanted to ask myself. It was "How can I believe?" He stated that he had "believed" in God all of his life and had reason to believe that he personally had benefitted from the power of God, but that he often found himself overwhelmed by the logic of the world and doubting his concept of God, if not the very existence of God.

I had never heard this question asked before (though I have several times since, which may indicate a more direct approach to our religion), and had often wondered why. In forums we often discuss our beliefs along the finer lines of theology and overlook the really basic difficulties of belief.

It is, and has been, my conviction that our weakness lies in a lack of basic belief. If we really believe that our concept of God is right, I can't see how any intelligent person could do other than make an honest effort to live accordingly.

I also believe that this doubt is quite natural and human. Canon Bryan Green said, "If a person has never doubted his religion, I doubt if he has ever thought about his religion." Thomas, Christ's own disciple, doubted Christ's resurrection until he felt the scars. Then isn't it logical that some of us should want to "feel the scars"—find something concrete, something we can feel?

As far as a good cure for doubt is concerned, I don't think there is one, but there are many ways to combat it. Here are a few that I've tried and liked. First, to convince yourself that there is a Supreme Power, try convincing yourself that there is not a Supreme Power (that may sound farfetched, but try it anyway). To develop a concept of the unlimited power and size of that Power, force your mind up into the confusing realm of the infinity of time and space. To develop confidence in your concept of that Power check all the evidence in history, talk to people who have had personal experience with that concept, or read books by such people. Finally, search for personal experience—you can't beat the convincing power of that.

And after this will you still have moments of doubt? Sure you will, but not as often or as serious. But don't hide it. Bring it out in the open. Just say openly to God, "Lord, I believe, help thou my unbelief." . . . And He will!

TALK OF THE TOWN . . .

Clemson Engineers Experiment New Theory On Shower Control

By Charles Sanders

ALL WE NEED IS A GOOD PACKAGE

If anyone is interested in seeing a neat, quick, efficient cooking and freezing plant in operation, he should attire himself in towel and robe and amble on down to one of the showers in the rear side of D (for Dog) section. At one of these showers he may view, or experience if he be foolishly enough, what has been described variously as "an architect's mistake—this was meant to go in the new Ag building", and "look out, it's sssss. . ."

The victims of the D section showers can be identified easily; they shy at the sight of water, they make strange hissing noises and break into shivers without any apparent cause; they approach all shower rooms with an air of furtive caution. There is a reason for this that is apparent to all those who have endured the terrible embrace of these said showers.

Let us examine a typical fifteen minutes in the showers. (To the showers, men. No you cannot come along, miss—I'm sorry.) (Real sorry.) Three average students appear on the scene, disrobe, and move bravely toward the nozzles. They turn on the water, adjust it to their individual preferences, and five seconds later they move in unison away from the source of the water. This latter maneuver is often accompanied by hoarse cries and obscene comments about how warm the water has suddenly become. By the time the students move back into the shower streams the water has reached a temperature just slightly above that of liquid helium; this condition occasions another general exodus from the fluid. And so it goes for several minutes. When at last the water temperatures settle down to a rude sort of equilibrium, another student (he's the jerk) comes in, turns on his shower, and starts the whole cycle over again. It is at this point that some students give up in disgust, and others murder the student responsible for the change, in disgust.

Several theories have been proposed to explain the method by which the showers are adjusted to cook the students and then deep freeze them, and follow this by a cycle of thaw, cook and freeze again. Some people claim that there exists a unique machine in the bottom of the power plant especially designed to produce the hot and cold effects. This machine is controlled by a punched tape several miles long which is fed into the monster; the temperature of the water flowing out is determined by the particular way in which the tape is punched. There was considerable difficulty in designing a machine which would be capable of changing the temperature of the water from 200 degrees above to 23 degrees below and back again in one second, but with a battery of Clemson's engineers working on the problem it was solved in three years, just in time to precede installation of water lines in the new dorms.

A few individuals still maintain that the fluctuations in temperature are due entirely to changes in the water pressure in the lines serving D section. This idea is ridiculous and does not deserve to be mentioned. If some conditions like this existed, the college would have no excuse for trying to remedy them. Since they (the college) have made no such attempt, it is obvious that some college agency must be responsible for the cook and freeze operations. Lest we be accused of unjust criticism, let us hasten to congratulate this agency for the fine results they have obtained in the past months.

One thing still puzzles us, though. Why do they go to all the trouble of cooking and freezing students when they seemingly have no intention of packaging them and exporting them to such needy foreign countries as Converse?

QUICK, HENRY, A WORD

This question came up in the writing of the paragraphs preceding this one. What do you call that thing that you turn to make water come out of the spigot? What is the correct name?

SYMPATHY

Too bad that Clemson has played its last home basketball game for this season. Now the boys who used to go over to yell at the pretty girls in the Field House will have to go back yelling at the laundry queens from the windows again.

DISC-O-PATION

By Mack McDaniel

JULIE IS HER NAME. That's the title of Julie London's new album on the Liberty label. If you are easily excited, suffer from high blood pressure, or haven't had a date lately, don't listen to this album. You won't be able to stand it. The cover alone is enough to drive the male mind across the thin line to insanity.

Julie, with the help of guitarist Barney Kessel, and Bass Man Ray Leatherwood, has recorded thirteen terrific tunes on a twelve inch L. P. The tunes are Cry Me a River, I Should Care, I'm in the Mood For Love, I'm Glad There Is You, Can't Help Loving That Man, I Love You, Say It Isn't So, I Never Entered My Mind, Easy Street, S' Wonderful, No Moon At All, Laura and Gone With the Wind. These are choice tunes sung in a choice style.

Bill Ballance, one of Hollywood's greatest Disc Spinners, has made some very apt comments in the following bit from the album cover: "This blithe and talented goddess of the bodice just finished a highly successful engagement in Los Angeles at John Walsh's 881 Club, the Irish Moulin Rouge. For ten palpitant weeks, the place was packed with London devotees who were jammed so closely together that they formed adhesions. I, for one, hardly had enough room to spread my dance-chart out on the floor."

"A performer who radiates charm and friendliness, Julie is a beautiful, piquant and yet unassuming young woman who has flaxen hair, and eyes that are bluer than the toes of a barefoot field-goal kicker; she has enough sex appeal to stampee a Rotary luncheon; her figure alone could revive the imagination of a dying hermit."

Richard Breen says, "Her voice is unique; it is special. It is not one of those Broadway show voices which turns the pit band into a distant fife. Nor will she ever make La Scala without serious diplomatic intervention. Her voice is smaller, a good deal more exact and perfectly true. She's a happy creature, full of summertime. To be more specific, she's an adroitly arranged 110 pounds, an actress of real merit, and at the moment, the newest and most sought-after supper club entertainer on the West Coast."

The Four Freshmen have recorded a new album to follow up their very successful VOICES IN MODERN, and it's called FOUR FRESHMEN AND FIVE TROMBONES. Pete Rugolo leads the backing with five top trombonists and a great rhythm section.

Billy Mays' latest is called SORTA-DIXIE. In this collection, Billy orchestrates some highly unorthodox notions of Dixieland into a hilarious, free-thinking concert that should arouse the interest of the New Orleans Jazz fan.

The Clemson College Chronicle, Early Publication Found Interesting

Compiled and Edited by Connie Faucette

(Eds. Note: The following article is a compilation of selections taken from the May 1898 CLEMSON CHRONICLE. This is the first in a series of articles on this pamphlet.)

It was the year 1898. The Civil War had begun 33 years ago. William McKinley had been elected the 25th President the year before. Admiral Dewey had struck the first blow of the Spanish-American War on May 1st. The Maine was sunk on February 15th of this year. Teddy Roosevelt was leading his "Rough Riders" and making statements like "It wasn't much of a war, but it was the best war we had." The United States for the first time in its history was emerging as a world power and imperialism was the keynote of our foreign policy. We had suddenly become a mature nation.

And what was happening at Clemson College in the year 1898? What were they doing and thinking in this eventful year. Well—

"On Saturday, May 28th our baseball team left for Pelzer, via Anderson. 'Tis needless to say that they went with full intentions of being defeated."

"The team arrived at Anderson about 11 a. m., and remained there until 2:30 p. m., and to the sorrow heard that the train from Belton to Pelzer was one hour and forty minutes late. Through the kindness of Captain Marshall we were greatly relieved. He telegraphed the superintendent of the Southern for permission to run his train to Pelzer for us, and a few minutes afterward Captain Marshall's engineer was splitting the wind at a one-mile-per-minute rate.

On arrival at Pelzer we sent our baggage to the hotel and made our way through the many factory kids to the grounds. At 4:45 p. m. the game was started and Clemson though light weight and young, played a steady game, did heavy slugging at the bat, and amid the yells and cries of the factory kids, the game closed with a score of nine to two in favor of Clemson."

"The features of the game were that McMakin and Shaw, Clemson's battery, used their hawks to perfection, and heavy slugging at the bat for our team. Nearly every ball knocked was placed. The two runs made by Pelzer were made on Clemson's errors."

"On Saturday, June 7th, Clemson's team left on the 4:40 a. m. train for Spartanburg, where, at 4:30 p. m., they met Wofford's team on the diamond. The day was cold and windy, and Wofford is very unfortunate in not having a baseball ground. 'Tis true Clemson has not a very large ground but 'Tis somewhat level."

"Clemson went to pieces and were defeated by a score of thirteen to four. Five home runs were knocked, two by Clemson and three by Wofford. This will give any one an idea about the grounds."

"The past month at Clemson has been a gay one, there having been two excursions run here, one from Walhalla and one from Spartanburg and Greenville. Both of these, we believe were enjoyed very much by the visitors as well as the Cadets. Many of the Cadets were thus given a chance to see their old sweethearts, and those who did not possess them in the crowd improved the opportunity to acquire them."

Clemson students were reading and writing poetry such as this:

Uncle Sam
Spanish scrap;
No more Spain
Upon the map.

Thro' the chalk lines.
If a body kick a body,
In a football game,
Never mind a thing like that,
Just kick him back again
And if perchance he kills you,
It may happen just the same.
The crowd expects you to Finish out the game.

AN OBJECT LESSON
She tossed her head disdainfully
And laughed in scornful glee;
She said it was painfully
Absurd as it could be,
That I should claim the greater height
When all the world must see
That, she in stately manner, quite
With ease looked down on me.

She stood close to me, and I knew
That opposite to mine
Were tempting lips of ruby hue,
And dimpled cheeks divine.
"That you are just my height,"
said I
"Indeed I must insist."
And so to prove my statement—
why
Her pouting lips I kissed!

These stories and poems were actually from an old Clemson Chronicle published in the year of 1898 by the Literary Societies of Clemson College. In addition to its antique value it is filled with many serious and humorous selections which surprisingly enough are quite applicable today—this, no doubt,

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young manager handles finances for $40,000,000 business

General Electric is made up of more than 90 product departments that operate as individual "businesses"—each conducting its own legal, financial, manufacturing, engineering, marketing and research activities.

One of the most important of these businesses is the Technical Products Department that makes broadcasting and communications equipment and semi-conductor devices. Responsible for managing the finances of this $40 million business is Robert H. Platt.

Platt's Work Is Important, Responsible

In the next ten years, the Technical Products Department is expected to reach the $100 million mark—more than doubling its present size. This is a big job. And it requires Platt to keep tabs on everything from tax, cost, and general accounting to payrolls, budgets and measurements, credits and collections, and internal auditing.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Experience gained in the Business Training Course and as a traveling auditor gave Platt a variety of financial experience. Like each of our 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, the country.

ROBERT H. PLATT joined G.E. in 1941 after receiving his B.A. at Colgate University. He served 2 years in the Navy, attaining the rank of Lieutenant (J.G.). He is also a graduate of G.E.'s Business Training Course.

Basketeers End Season With 9-16 Record

By Louis Jordan

LAST ROUND-UP

The Tigers have just completed their last regular season game for the 1955-56 schedule and are now at Raleigh, N.C., attending and participating in the Atlantic Coast Conference Basketball Tournaments.

The Tigers have not had a superb record to speak of, but it is a vast improvement over the record posted by last season's squad. The nine wins against the fourteen losses are much more appreciated than the two wins of the twenty-three games last year.

Coach Banks McFadden and his charges should be commended highly for the efforts and work toward holding their own with some of the teams they played. Clemson belongs to the hardest hitting Conference in the nation when it comes to basketball. Three of the four teams that Clemson played from North Carolina are rated in the top eleven in the country. They have held their posts in this line-up for most of the season.

In the final voting for top teams, N. C. State and the University of North Carolina were in the top ten while Duke ranked eleventh. These ratings are not just picked by one person either. They are voted on by press writers all over the United States.

RAIN — RAIN — RAIN

Rain, rain, go away. That is the song that Coach Frank Howard has been singing most of this year's spring football session. Coach Howard and his assistants have had to go inside on numerous occasions when the weather outside became a little on the wet side.

Last Saturday there was scheduled an intra-squad scrimmage that had to be postponed as was the practice session to be held last Monday. Even with all the wet weather and other interference, Coach Howard plans to have his first, third, fifth and seventh teams pitted against his second, fourth, sixth and eighth teams when kick-off time for the annual IPTAY Day-Block C football game arrives.

IPTAY DAY

The kick-off time for the Block C game is at 2 p. m., on March 10. The president of the IPTAY is urging all members of the club to put forth all the effort that they can to be present on the campus for this game and the activities that will be under way.

The regular meeting of the IPTAY will commence promptly at 11 a. m. when several matters of importance will be taken up. Mr. Edwards says that he would like to see a very large representation present.

An added attraction to the IPTAY Day will be the dinner that will be prepared by the Block and Bride Club especially for this event. The plates will be $1.50 for those who want to eat.

SWIMMING TEAM MEETS

The Tiger swimming team has participated in their last regular swimming meet of the year down at Emory University. They did well against the boys from Georgia as they took their fourth victory of the season.

This record does not compare with last season's record but it does show that there are boys on the campus that are for Clemson all the way.

The swimming team has had a rough time all season long with their lack of depth. Of course this is not the first year that there has been an inadequate supply of water lovers.

Last year, the year before, and the year before that there was a manpower shortage. This is directly related to the lack of interest on the campus in the swimming team and the job that they are doing toward a better Clemson. If there is anything that would help to build interest in swimming on the campus then Coach Carl McHugh would certainly like to know about it. Most people figure that if Clemson had a larger, more modern swimming pool, then there would be more interest. This is true, but on the other hand, if there were more interest in swimming on the campus, then there would probably be a better pool.

Maybe in the near future something will be done about the pool and the facilities that are available to the swimming team and the students here at Clemson. Until then, Coach McHugh will just have to continue to struggle with the meager pool and the lack of interest and try to do as well as he has done in the past.

Coach McHugh has been with the swimming team for a good many years now and should be highly commended for his work. He has turned out several excellent teams in the past with hopes for many more to come.

SPRING SPORTS

Now that the spring sports have gotten into full swing with their practices, most all of the students are looking forward to the time when they can go out to watch their favorite team in action. When this time comes, there will be very little to interfere with the attendance of the student to the events such as baseball, track and tennis. This year the Clemson teams should have quite a few more spectators to their different contests.

Backing is what it takes for any team to win. Let's all get out on the field of contest to support Clemson.

In this week's TIGER, there is a special calendar of athletic events for the sole purpose of reminding the students of the different contests. Cut this calendar out and post it on the wall of your room. Mark the athletic events that you want to see and be sure to get out to them.

Tigers Journey To Raleigh For ACC Tournaments

The Tigers will carry the highest scoring average in their history tomorrow night against the N. C. State Wolfpack in the third game of this year's Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament. This offensive effort of 86.1 points per game is also tops in the ACC this year.

Last year the Tigers jumped to 73.6 points a contest which was the record until this year's point-happy Tigers came along. The team will also be remembered for the many records shovled by the wayside. Right now there are 12 new ones and unless something drastic happens in Raleigh, three more will fall.

On the individual basis, captain Bill Yarbrough claims title to 14 games, season and career records and is tied for one more.

Clemson in facing State in the opening round of the ACC family squabble meets the same team which beat the Tigers on two occasions this year, both by 17-point margins. In the initial game the score was 100 to 83 with Clemson and State both scoring 51 points in the second half. In the second encounter the Wolfpack outgunned Clemson 105 to 88. The 88 points were the most scored on the Pack this year.

Two State stalwarts, Cliff Hafer and Ron Shavlik, will not be around in the third meeting. This will definitely raise the Tigers hopes, yet Clemson realizes that even without these two, State will still be hard to handle, and Coach Banks McFadden has told his boys such.

In that first encounter Hafer bagged 13 points and Shavlik 18. On the Pack's home court Hafer notched 12 and Shavlik enjoyed his best night of the year with 30.

The Tigers left early this morning in cars for the Raleigh play. They worked out after arrival there. McFadden will probably start Vince Yockel (20.8), Bill Yarbrough (18.7), Tom Cameron (13.8), Gene Seay (12.6) and Ed Brinkley (6.9).

Also, making the trip were Tommy Smith, Dick Yearby, Bill Riser, Eddie Moncrief, Bruce Holzschuh and Doc Morgan and managers Allen Heath and Al Soudan.

A large following of Tiger fans are expected in Raleigh as the school's allotment of 300 tickets have been gone about 10 days.

Spring Sports To Open Soon

The Clemson spring sports program will open Wednesday, March 21, with golf and tennis matches and two days later the baseball team will swing into action in a two-game home appearance against The Citadel. The track team's first meet will be here March 28 against Wake Forest.

Baseball Coach Bob Smith has nine lettermen returning, with three of the group being pitchers. The Tigers will play nine home games in the 20-game schedule. In addition to each conference team being met twice, there is also a home-and-home arrangement with Furman and Georgia Tech with The Citadel being met twice here.

Leonard Yaun, John Woodward and Bob Agnew are ready to do some driving and putting for golf coach Bob Moorman. Thirteen regular season matches are carded, plus two tournaments.

On the cinder side of the picture Coach Rock Norman is counting on Gene Metz, state champion hurdler Joe Bowen, A. W. Dickens, H. W. Murphree, J. C. Roberts, W. H. Smith, Bob Spooner, H. M. Williams and Don Quattlebaum. Tennis Coach Hoke Sloan has Eddie Scarpa and Chris Theos back.

Statistics Show Good Season For High Scoring Basketeers

By Jerry Ausbond

This was the year for the Clemson Tigers in basketball! They wound up on the Atlantic Coast Conference cellar again, but this was their year.

It was their year, too. For two seasons the Tigers were hampered with lack of reserve strength and lack of enough talent. The Tigers had that this year and even more.

Certainly no one will deny the fact that the Tigers were the most improved team in the conference, if not the nation, although they did not set the ACC on fire as had been predicted. Clemson won the acclaim of their fans and sports writers in general all over the country with their wonderful sportsmanship and fighting ability.

A stranger looking at Clemson's record both in the ACC and their overall score sheet might say, "... a sorry team." Yet, we must look at the records of last year to really see what we mean when we say a vastly improved team.

Last season, Clemson lost fifteen games in the conference. Some were close, but all of them were blows to the Tiger pride. In the final seasonal tally, Clemson had won but two games; those over Georgia, 74-72 and 105-94. They had lost twenty-one, and they meant to avenge the lost prestige. Beginning the season with several sophomores in starting positions, the Tigers seemed to have fallen back into their notions of the previous season; they lost three straight conference games. Then, the big win, a 75-73 victory over Virginia for their only ACC win in the conference's history, and Tiger fans did not fear the success of the season.

Then came the bowl season around Christmas and the Tigers surprised everyone, coming out second only to Wake Forest in the Carrousel Classic, winning the Gator Bowl tourney, and coming out third in the Senior Bowl.

As the season progressed, it was evident that Clemson was one of the best teams in the conference, but that they were bested by seven other schools was also shown. They won the non-conference games and lost the ACC games. Perhaps, the happiest and most elated results came when Clemson downed Furman on their own home grounds 113-99.

The Tigers finally wound up the season with a nine win and sixteen loss record, ending the season with a loss to Furman.

Considering individual distinction, we find that sophomore Vince Yockel surpassed even the greatest expectation of his coaches and wound up the season with a 20.76 average to lead the Tigers. Bill Yarbrough, who has led the Tigers ever since he has been in school with some of the pressure taken off of him was second in scoring with a 18.68 average. Tom Cameron, Gene Seay, and Ed free throws to break a record of the previous year with Georgia.

The Tigers and Furman equalled a record set by them in 1955 when the two teams ran up a total of 211 points.

Bill Yarbrough scored the most free throws a Tiger has ever scored in one game by dumping 15 against Maryland. Vince Yockel also had a hand in the free throw department by attempting 18 free throws against The Citadel to set a new record.

Bill Yarbrough broke three all-time career records this season by scoring 1,348 career points to stop Johnny Sneek's old record of 1,049, by getting the most free throws, 324, to top his own record, and by dumping the most field goals, 512, to better Sneek's mark. Bill could still break his own career average of 19.15 in the ACC tournaments.

These things have contributed to the success of the Tigers this year. This has truly been their year, and it might still be their's in the tournament when they meet N. C. State.

Nine Lettermen Return To Diamond For 1956

Friday, March 23 marks the opening of the 1956 baseball season for the Clemson Tigers. They will meet The Citadel Bulldogs in this opening game with hopes of becoming the Atlantic Coast Conference champions by the end of a tentative 20-game schedule.

On the day following the 23rd, the Tigers will play host again to the Bulldogs in a two game series. Playing against the Bulldogs will be nine returning lettermen and a host of sophomores who were tops on the frosh squad last season.

Topping the list of lettermen is Dick Swetenburg. Dick has played with the Tigers for three years and is winding up his college career on the diamond this season. He is a six foot, left handed first baseman who can really stretch for the ball. The one hundred fifty-five pound lad from Anderson has lettered two years for the Tigers.

Another lad from Anderson is Jim Coleman, who has not been out on the baseball field as yet because of football practice, has lettered in baseball as well as football. Jim plays centerfield and has a wicked batting swing. He stands five feet eleven inches tall and weighs in at one seven-ty.

He is a junior with one more year of baseball for the Tigers. Jim O'Quinn is well remembered from last year's squad for both his batting and his play behind the plate. Jim is twenty-two years old and is six feet weighing 195 pounds. He is a senior from Ridgeland, S. C.

There are three returning lettermen on the mound this year. In this category, Leonard Humphries heads the list for his last year with the Tiger team. Leonard stands six feet two inches high off the mound and weighs one sixty-five. He is expected to lead the pitching staff in their bout this season. The twenty-one year, old lad comes to Clemson from Sumter, S. C.

From Chester, S. C., comes Don Shealy back to the pitchers' mound where he acted as relief pitcher last season. Shealy stands six feet and weighs in at one sixty-five. He is a junior with one more year of eligibility.

Bill Toth is the third pitcher of the returning lettermen who will be on the mound for the Tigers this season. Bill is from Cannonsburg, Pa., with two years of varsity baseball behind him. He is expected to be invaluable to Coach Smith this year. Bill is six feet tall and weighs two hundred ten pounds.

Another letterman who yields a powerful stick is Bill Barnett. Bill has been the centerfielder for the Tigers for the past two seasons and is finishing his career here this season. Coming from Taylors, S. C., he weighs one eighty and stands six feet. He will bat in a clean-up position this year.

Two other returning lettermen that will bolster the Clemson diamond men this year are Leon Kaltenbach and Carol Brown. Both are juniors with one more year for the Tigers.

Leon is from Clairton, Pa. He played last year as both a catcher and in the outfield. Leon is a good hitter and a good fielder. His services will be used to the best advantage in coming season. He is out for football spring practice at the present time but will be ready to go when the Tigers take on The Citadel. Leon stands five feet eleven inches and weighs in at two hundred pounds.

Carol Brown on the other hand stands five feet ten and a half inches and weighs in for his position in the outfield at one sixty. Carol is a junior from Kingstree, S. C. Coach Smith will have Carol doing his best in the position that he can best benefit the Tigers.

These nine seniors will be the strength of the Tigers team as (Continued on Page 5)

'Y' To Offer Life Saving Courses

Many Clemson students are interested in the Red Cross Life-saving Courses. The Clemson YMCA program includes such courses in its services to students.

A Senior Lifesaving Course will begin on March 12 at 7:00 p. m. in the YMCA pool. Those who are interested in this course should register immediately, either in the YMCA Office or in the Office of Student Affairs.

An Instructors' Course will be held in April for those who wish to have further training. The requirements and qualifications for this course are as listed below:

1. Persons must be at least 18 years old.
2. The preliminary course of 15 hours must be completed successfully before admission to the Instructor's Course. This is important because it is a requirement made by the Red Cross.
3. Ability to swim well.
4. Willingness to spend 15 hours on the course.

An announcement will be made later concerning the time of the Instructors' Course, but any persons wishing to register for either course, or both, or wishing to obtain further information about the courses, should do so before March 12 at one of the above-mentioned offices.

Swimmers Swim In Ga. Invitational

Half of Clemson's swimming team stayed over after the Emory swimming meet this past week-end to participate in the Georgia Invitational A. A. U. Meet. Dick Carter, Mac Hendee, Louis Ackerman and John Dowdle represented Clemson well against stiff competition encountered in this meet.

All four men combined their talents to take third place in the 400 yard medley relay while Florida State and the University of Georgia took first and second respectively.

Dick Carter took third place in a very close 200 yard backstroke race. The first place time was 2:20.2, second place was 2:20.4 and the third, Carter's was 2:20.8.

The entire meet was dominated by the Florida State University and the University of Georgia. In the record section there were three new records set in the men's division and five in the women's division. Lee Skidmore of Columbia, S. C., was the nemesis of old records. She broke three records in the women's division, setting new marks in the 220 and 440 yard freestyle and the 200 yard individual medley.

Atom Bomb Test Movies Will Be Shown Sunday

"The Fossil Story," last of a series of films on oil from the Shell Oil Co., will be shown at 3 p. m. next Sunday afternoon at the Clemson College chemistry auditorium, accompanied by a Navy release on the atomic bomb test at Bikini Island.

In live action scenes, "The Fossil Story" traces the development of prehistoric life, in live action scenes in color, from microscopic organisms to huge dinosaurs. We learn why and how scientists search for fossils in far and near places to bring us vital materials.

These weekly films are presented by the Clemson Unitarian Fellowship as a community service.

Tigs Lose Last Game To Furman; Rough Contest For Both Teams

The Clemson College Tigers lost their sixteenth game of the season Thursday night as Furman's Dick Wright dumped in 36 points to lead the Paladins in an avenger's victory, 91-80. Wright, a freshman, was not watched as closely as was Darrell Floyd, the Furman All-American, and he took advantage of the situation to hand the Tigers a defeat that no one expected.

It was the rebounding of Jimmy Herring and the shooting of Fred Fraley and Wright which provided the Furman Purple with a return victory over the Tigers. The Tigers got an upset victory in their first meeting in Greenville 112-99, and the Tigers were odds on favorites to win in the second meeting, but Clemson could not muster enough strength to meet the onslaught of Wright.

Packed as never before with a crowd of over 4,000, the Field House rocked with the cheers of the Tiger fans, led by the ever faithful cheer-leaders. Furman had nearly as many fans on hand as had the Tigers, and the pitch of the game was already decided when the varsity players took the hardwoods.

Bill Yarborough, Bill Riser, Bruce Holbschuh, Tommy Smith and Doc Morgan played their final regular season game for the Tigers, and they played it with all the spirit that the crowd instilled in them. All four of these seniors got in the game and scored at least one point.

Yarborough dumped in 14 points to run his season's total to 1,348 and his seasonal scoring average to 18.68. He is second high on the Tiger Five with only sophomore Vince Yockel out ranking him.

Tigs Down Emory To Finish Season

Looking better than they have in quite a few meets, the Tiger swimming team won their last dual meet of the season by defeating Emory University to the tune of 47-36.

Emory started the meet with a bang by edging out the Tiger tanksters in a close race at the finish line of the 300 yard medley relay with a time of 3:27.9. The last man for the Tiger crossed the finish line just one tenth of a second behind Emory.

Emory's John Schonberg of Finland took a first place in the 220 yard freestyle with a time of 2:20.5 with New and Wilson of Clemson taking second and third respectively.

In the 50 yard dash, Dick Carter and Mac Hendee took the first and second places to add points to the Tigers total. Carter's time was 25.6 seconds. Lou Ackerman outswam his Emory opponent to capture a first medley relay with a time of 2:35.1. Joel Porcher followed Ackerman by taking a first place in the diving event.

Mac Hendee brought home more points for the Tigers with a first place in the 100 yard dash event with a time of 60 seconds flat. Emory managed to squeeze a second place and Lou Ackerman of Clemson got third.

John Dowdle of Clemson edged out Dick Carter in the 200 yard backstroke with a time 2:44.8. Carter was pushing him close with a 2:45.5.

Eric Schonberg of Emory took another first place by cutting a fast time of 5:25 in the 440 yard freestyle event. Clemson's Wes New was second with a time of 5:52.5.

In the 200 yard breaststroke, John Van Ravenstein was not quite up to par and only managed to take a third place with Emory taking both first and second places.

The final event was the 400 yard freestyle relay and with the score 40-36 in favor of the Tigers, it was the deciding event of the meet. If Emory took this event they would defeat the Tigers. Clemson's 400 yard relay team composed of Mac Hendee, Joel Porcher, Louis Ackerman and Dick Carter brought home a first place in front of the Emory team with a time of 3:54.8.

they go out in search of the ACC crown. Many rough games and close plays will pass before the Tigers finish this season, but there is sure to be a Tiger on the top in the end.

Swimmers Go To ACC Meets For Final Swim

Coach Carl McHugh and the members of the Clemson swimming team journey to Chapel Hill, N. C., this coming week-end to participate in the 1956 Atlantic Coast Conference swimming tournaments to be held in the swimming pool at the University of North Carolina.

The Conference meet is held annually for all the teams from the schools who are members of the A. C. C. This meet is different in as much as the individuals instead of the teams are recognized for their feats.

This year, as usual, the swimmers from the University of North Carolina and N. C. State are expected to grab all the first places with Duke, Clemson, University of South Carolina and Virginia men fighting for the scraps that are left. The reason for this is the greatest emphasis that is placed upon the minor sports at these schools.

Clemson will go into these finals with her team members sporting a record of four wins and six losses.

For the team individuals their scoring through the season has been rather constant.

Individual points are as follows for the season:

Dick Carter	94
Mac Hendee	61
Louis Ackerman	59
Joel Porcher	51
Wes Millard	38
John Dowdle	32
Wes New	28
Bonum Wilson	17
John Van Ravenstein	15

Baby Bengals Drop Season's Last Game

Clemson's Cubs played around with the Furman Little Paladins for the first half Thursday night, then saw their lead at half time melt into a 110-90 victory for Furman.

The Cubs wound up their season with this game, compiling an overall nine win and six loss record. The Furman lads ended their season with 18-3.

A six foot-six inch Pennsylvanian, Steve Benya, led the fights scoring with 37 points. For Clemson, Robbie Lindsay had 22 points.

Although the Cubs did not anywhere near equal last year's record, Clemson did do well considering the quality of the teams which they met. Furman (110)—Saylor 21, Bass 12, Benya 37, Rhine 20, Garrett 2.

Clemson (90)—DeBerry 17, Lindsay 22, Hoffman 19, Parnell 14, Carter 6, Rhodes 4, Helton 2, Wells 4, Holstein 2, Alewine 2.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"One open door after another"

"That's how I feel about the telephone company," says Walter D. Walker, B.E.E., University of Minnesota, '51. "When I joined the company I felt that I could go in any direction. And that's the way it's been."

"For the first six months I was given on-the-job training in the fundamentals of the telephone business—how lines are put up and equipment installed. Learning those fundamentals has really paid off for me."

"Then I had the opportunity to go to the Bell Laboratories in New Jersey. I worked on memory crystals—ferroelectric crystals—for use in digital computers. I learned how important research is to the telephone business."

"After two years I came back to Minnesota, to St. Cloud, to work in the District Plant Engineer's Office. There I made field studies of proposed construction projects and drew up plans to guide the construction crews. This combination of inside and outside work gave me invaluable experience."

"In July, 1955, I came to Minneapolis as an Engineer in the Exchange Plant Extension Engineer's Office. We do forecasting—not of the weather, but of future service needs. Using estimates of growth and economic studies, we make our plans for the years ahead. We figure out where and when new facilities will be needed to meet future growth."

"All this has been preparing me for a real future. You see, the telephone company is expanding by leaps and bounds. That's why it offers a young man so many open doors."

Wally Walker's career is with Northwestern Bell Telephone Company. Similar career opportunities exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, and in Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information regarding Bell System companies.

Major Moore To Leave Clemson

The Clemson AFROTC will lose one of its most popular officers on the tenth of March when Major E. L. Moore leaves in quest of grandeur and glory of the Strategic Air Command.

Major Moore came to Clemson in the fall of 1952 at which time he instructed senior ROTC students. Since that first year he has instructed sophomores exclusively, although it has been suspected that he also instructed navigation by proxy to junior classes. He has also been the officer in charge of leadership laboratory and advisor to Arnold Air Society, Pershing Rifles Regimental Headquarters, and Air Force Rifle Team.

A native of Hampton, Virginia, Major Moore graduated from VPI in 1941 with a degree in forestry and a commission in the Army Artillery. He transferred into the Army Air Corps and later flew B29's over Japan from Guam. In 1946 he became a civilian and for five years instructed in the Spartan School of Aeronautics in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The Korean crisis in 1951 caused him to be recalled to active duty. Upon leaving Clemson, he will report to Smokey Hill Air Force Base in Kansas where he will fly KC97's for the Strategic Air Command. Now a career reservist, Major Moore expects to enjoy his assignment with SAC—primarily because he will get to fly a lot.

Major Moore declares that his tour at Clemson has been very pleasant and that the community is very friendly. His wife and three girls share his enthusiasm in saying that the community is "hard to beat." The Major also thinks that the student body spirit has improved markedly since he came here.

Major Moore's winning personality and matchless sincerity will be sorely missed in the Air Force Department and community by officers, students and residents alike.

The South Carolina Methodist Student Movement elected officers for the coming year at their annual conference held at Clemson last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The officers are, (left to right) President P. W. Stokes of Clemson; Vice-President Ann Hendrix of Winthrop; Secretary Bob Clyburn of Wofford; Treasurer Valgene Mahan of The Citadel; World Christian Committee Chairman John Walker of Clemson. Not present for the picture were Christian Action Committee Chairman Nancy Wallace of the University of South Carolina, and Publicity Chairman Wallace Watson of Wofford. (Photo by Bill Alford).

Stokes And Walker Are Elected To Methodist Student Offices

The Clemson Methodist Church and the Clemson Wesley Foundation were hosts to the twenty-eighth South Carolina Methodist Student Conference last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, February 24-26. The theme of the Conference was "Through Endless Years the Same."

Dr. Everett Tilson was the featured speaker and leader at this assembly, which represented eighteen colleges in South Carolina. Dr. Tilson set the spirit for the conference with two lectures, the sermon on Sunday morning at the Clemson Methodist Church, and the leadership of one of the "fireside chat" groups.

One of the highlights of the Conference was a Roundtable Discussion with Bill Hood of Clemson as moderator. Serving as panel members were Dr. S. J. L. Crouch, Mrs. Carl Epting, and Mr. Jack Williams. In this meeting the practical applications of Christianity were discussed.

Two formal business sessions were held. The officers for the coming year will be Preston Stokes, of Clemson, president; Anne Hendrix, of Winthrop, vice-president; Bob Clyburn, of Wofford, secretary; Val Nahan, of The Citadel, treasurer; John Walker, of Clemson, World Christian Community Chairman; Nancy Wallace, of U. S. C., Chairman of Christian Action; and Wallace Watson, of Wofford, Publicity Chairman.

The Conference voted to accept the invitation of The Citadel and the College of Charleston to meet in Charleston next year.

Miami Considers Possibilities Of Russian Swap

The possibilities of a student exchange program with Russia are being considered by the University of Miami, Florida, upon the request of the National Student Association. This is being done as a result of a recent NSA resolution dealing with a Soviet-American student exchange program and covering four types of programs under two general headings. The first is a plan whereby the student pays his own or through his sponsor all expenses during this trip. Under the second program, the exchange would pay their own travel expenses, including those incurred on trips to the host country, but would enjoy free room and board and study at the universities they visit.

fused to roll over and play dead for the enemy. With only two minutes in the second half, Floyd committed his fourth foul, and Vince Vockel's free throw shot made it 48-40 for the men in black. Here again, the Tiger come-back was thwarted by the sensational performance of one Mr. Wright.

The Tigers, sensitive of the semi-freeze Fraley decided to play with, opened up their defenses so that senior Fraley could delight the crowd with his superb drives. This trivial situation over, Clemson again put in a bid to overtake their neighboring foes. Bill Riser and Yarborough cut the lead to 81-72, but that was as near as the Tigers came.

In a short time, Floyd iced the game with three successive free throws.

J. L. Marshall, 'Founding Father' Honored By Tiger Brotherhood

Professor J. L. Marshall, "founding father" of the Tiger Brotherhood, was honored at the Founders' Night Banquet last Thursday night by the presentation of a Sheaffer Desk Pen Set, suitably engraved, and in-set with a Tiger Brotherhood key.

Joe Taylor, vice-president of the Brotherhood, talked on the position of Tiger Brotherhood on the campus, recent changes in the constitution, and the challenge for the future.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Dean of Student Affairs Walter Cox. Professor John D. Lane, who was a charter member of Tiger Brotherhood, gave a talk on the situation at Clemson during the early twenties, the walkout, and the events that led up to the founding of the Tiger Brotherhood. He then spoke of the purpose of its founding and the accomplishments that it has made on the campus.

Exact duplicates of the original membership cards had been made up, and were presented to the members present.
